Abstract

The present invention relates to a system and method for financial transactions on the Internet.